DETAILED ACTION

The drawing is objected to under 37CFR1.84 as failing to contain lead lines for numerals 44 and 46 in figure 1. Correction is required. The introduction of new matter should be guarded against.

The specification is objected to as being in improper form. The reference to claim 1 on page 1, line 8, and on page 2, lines 30 and 31, in the disclosure is improper. The disclosure should support the claims and not vice versa. Correction is required. Also "14" in lines 23 and 26 on page 6 should be --16-- and "16" in line 31 on page 6 should be --4--. Finally the meaning of the phrase "attacks at" in line 25 on page 7 is unclear. Clarification is required.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are narrative in form since several of the elements are set forth in terms of operation rather than being structurally defined and related. For example the transmitting member is not structurally defined and related to the shovel and has only an operative connection with the actuation head which requires no particular connection rendering the claim indefinite. The claims are also indefinite since it is unclear whether the claims are combination claims including a control system, a shovel, a boom, a boom cylinder and a shovel cylinder or are subcombination claims including only a control system. This indefiniteness is caused by a recitation of an hydraulic control for a mobile equipment in the preamble, together with a seemingly positive recitation of equipment elements. Further the claims are incomplete. For example, note the phrase "may be reset" in the penultimate line of claim 1 set forth a desired result but no structure to provide the result. Finally claims 7 and 8 are further indefinite since "the lower" in claim 7 and "the pilot control device" in claim 8 lack clear antecedent basis.

The claims should be rewritten to include the essential elements of the invention and the elements should be correlated to define an operative device.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 3 and 5-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by French, et al.

Note control device 62, transmitting means 114, 122, orientation device 124 and actuation head, i. e., the connection between 124 and 90.

Regarding claim 3, note 64 connects to a port and 70 is a port.

Regarding claim 5, note springs 126 and 148 (tensile spring).

Regarding claim 6, note actuation lever 82.

Regarding claim 8, note 64 in the reference connects to a port.

Claims 1, 2 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Seaberg, et al.

Note transmitting member 228, actuation head 226, 221 and lever 124 (claim 6) which can be used to fix the bucket angle.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Baum, et al.

Note transmitting member 50, 72 and control unit 56 comprising actuation head 82.
